HARDING BECOMES FARMER AGAIN AT HUTCHINSON STOP

President Goes Into Fields and Uses Binder With True Skill.
SPEAKS TO FARMERS
Tells Farmers Peak of U. S. Depression is Past; Prosperity in View.

(By the Associated Press)
HUTCHINSON, Kan., June 23.—The special train bearing President Harding and party on their western trip left Hutchinson early tonight for Denver, the next scheduled stop, where the president will rest Sunday and on Monday deliver his fourth prepared address, speaking on law enforcement.

HUTCHINSON, Kans., June 23.—President Harding became a farmer again today while in Hutchinson for a night's visit. He drove a binder, he shocked wheat, he talked with the farmers about their problems, and he delivered an address on the agricultural situation. In his address, made to an audience largely composed of farmers, at the state fair ground, he spoke as president of the United States but with an understanding that comes only from having lived and worked on the farm. To the farmers who heard him he brought a prediction of a better day, declaring that "clearly we are through the worst of the depression and can reasonably expect gradual improvement."

The chief executive's real contact with farm life came soon after he and Mrs. Harding and their party arrived at 10 a. m. from Kansas City. The entire party was taken on an automobile ride out into the country and was shown the famous Reno county wheat districts of which Hutchinson is the center.

Before arriving in Hutchinson the president's train traveled through Kansas wheat fields and upon arriving, he with Mrs. Harding and other members of the party, were taken for a ride into the country where the wheat harvest has just begun.

Stops at Newton.
The president awoke this morning in the midst of a wheat field. During the night trip from Kansas City the train had run ahead of the schedule and after passing Newton, Kan., about 5:00 a. m. it was run on a siding. On either side of the track ripening wheat waved in the early morning sun and stretched away almost as far as the eye could see. The president told members of his party that it was one of the most beautiful sights he had ever witnessed.

Informed that the train was about two miles from Newton the chief executive recalled a visit to that town when he was giving chautauqua lectures. He greeted members of the train crew and had quite a long talk with James Young the engineer.

"As a boy one of my ambitions was to be a railroad engineer," the president told Young. "Some of that old ambition still remains and I would like to go up and ride with you in the cab but for the sake of safety first I guess they wouldn't want the president to do it. It must be a pleasant feeling to sit in the cab with a hand on the throttle and with a consciousness of controlling power. You know, when you are up there in the engine with your hand on the lever you really have more power in your control than I do as president of the United States."

HUTCHINSON, Kan., June 23.—President Harding brought to the agricultural middle west today a message of optimism with a prediction that the worst of the post-war depression had passed and that gradual improvement could be reasonably expected.

In an address devoted to discussion of the agricultural situation, the chief executive reviewed the measures taken by the government to aid the farmers, placing at the forefront the farm credits legislation enacted by the last congress. This legislation when carried out, he declared, "will be capable of furnishing the American farmers, for the first time in the history of agriculture in any country, adequate investment and working capital on terms as favorable as those accorded to commerce and industry." Furthermore, he said, it will tend to restore fair prices for farm products and aid the farmer in lifting debts incurred during the period of depression.

"I confess a frank pride in the government's part in bettering a situation against which you justly complained and which all the people of the nation deplored," the president told his audience in this agricultural state. "The co-operation of the farmer and the government is the only way to win the fight."

Assailant Of Roff Officer Surrenders

Jack Hangs up Death Wallop For Big Ben

(By the Associated Press)
GREAT FALLS, Conn., June 23.—"Big Ben" Wray of Sayre, Okla., weighing 250 pounds and standing seven feet two inches, holds the worlds doubtful distinction of having been put out of commission for a longer period than any other boxer who ever traded punches with Jack Dempsey, worlds heavyweight champion.

A broken jaw sustained from a left hook just 28 seconds after Wray faced the champion following his journey of two thousand miles to engage in a training camp bout will keep the Oklahoma giant out of the ring at least six months, according to the physician who attended him.

Wray, who was formerly a cowboy and oil rigger down in Oklahoma, had been seeking a match with Dempsey for several weeks, being convinced that the champion could not knock him over. He came here against the best wishes of his manager, "Tex" McCarthy, who had been knocked out himself in a few punches by Dempsey in 1918.

"It will do the big stiff good," was all the consolation McCarthy offered the fallen gladiator.

As his protegee's hulk crashed to the canvass McCarthy attempted a hollow smile. "I told him what would happen but he just had to find out for himself," McCarthy said. "Now maybe he'll listen to what I tell him about this fight. He probably thought that Dempsey could not do very much without him. Now I guess he knows."

M'CARL FIRM IN COMPTROLLER JOB

Ignores President's Will and Maintains Own Claim in Voucher Pay.

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, June 23.—Comptroller general McCarl, whose authority in disbursement of public funds has been challenged several times by cabinet members and other officials has informed President Harding that he regarded his decision as final, and appealed only to congress. He is willing to "consider" the views of interested officials at all times, but the opinion of none of them he holds, is controlling on his office.

The comptroller general quotes "declaration of jurisdiction" came to light today in publication of monthly rulings in the general accounting office. The statement for direction on an opinion handed down in May at the attorney general's office constructing a portion of the federal employment compensation act contrary to a decision by the comptroller general. Mr. McCarl indicated that he would decline to approve disbursement vouchers from the compensation commission despite the ruling of the justice department unless the payments were in accordance with his view of the law.

The sweeping authority asserted by comptroller general McCarl over disbursement by the federal government was challenged today when the employees compensation commission decided with the apparent backing of President Harding to order resumption of cert class of payments which the comptroller general had refused to allow.

Attorney General Daugherty recently upheld the validity of the payments but Mr. McCarl has indicated that he does not recognize the authority of either the justice department or the white house to overrule him. The comptroller general office controls actual payment of the claims involved and apparently it is the intention of the comptroller general to continue to refuse to approve payment vouchers in spite of the position taken by the president.

SHELDON IS APPOINTED STATE BUDGET CLERK

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, June 23.—A. N. Sheldon, one of the organizers of the farmer-labor reconstruction league and editor of its official organ, The Reconstructionist, has been named clerk and accountant to the state budget officer, it was learned today. Sheldon has been on the state pay roll since the first of the month. The appointment was made by Governor Walton.

The job pays $200 a month and lasts only six months under the law, but it is understood Sheldon is to be transferred to the market commission in the near future.

Harding Not Lonesome

Joel T. Boone, Secretary Hubert Work. Third row: Capt. Adolphus Andrews, Speaker Gillette, Mrs. George B. Christian, Maj. O. M. Baldinger, Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Sawyer. Below: Brig. Gen. Sawyer and Mrs. Work.

Whatever shortcomings may develop on President Harding's Alaskan trip, loneliness won't be one of them. The passenger list reads like the social register at a Washington White House party. In addition to the official party there is a score or more of secret service agents, newspaper correspondents and flunkies of one kind or another. All in all it looks like a sociable little party.

The official party consists of President and Mrs. Harding; Secretary and Mrs. Work; Secretary Wallace; Secretary and Mrs. Hoover; secretary to the President, Christian and Mrs. Christian; Speaker Gillette; Admiral Rodman; Brig. Gen. C. F. Sawyer, the president's physician; and Mrs. Sawyer; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Jennings; Mrs. Frank Kieler, friend of Mrs.

Christian; Capt. Adolphus Andrews, U. S. N., and Maj. C. M. Baldinger, aides; Lieut. Com. Joel T. Boone; Judson C. Welliver; Commissioner Spry of the land office and Mrs. Spry; Col. W. J. Greeley, chief of forest service; H. M. Bain, secretary to Secretary Wallace; W. J. Donald, secretary to Secretary Work, and Sumner Curtis, of the American Red Cross.

LEGAL BATTERY KEPT FOR RODDIE DEFENSE

Indications point that a final hearing of the Reuben M. Roddie murder case will be made when it is brought to hearing here July 8 in a special term of district court, if the corps of attorneys retained by Roddie is a fair barometer of the seriousness of the defense in preparing for the trial.

While no official information was available at the court clerk's office Saturday afternoon, it has been stated from reliable sources that Judge Hal Johnson of Shawnee will sit in the case.

Judge Johnson is no stranger to the Ada bar, having assumed the bench here in two of the most important cases in the history of the city, the Robertson and Fisher cases.

The defense in the Roddie case, has secured the legal representation of J. B. Dudley of Oklahoma City, Ben Williams of Norman, Robert Wimlish, I. M. King, B. C. King and probably others from Ada, it was learned from authoritative sources Saturday.

Father Murderer Sentenced

HEAT WAVE HITS IN MANY STATES

Number of Prostrations Now Reach 23 for Chicago Alone.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 23.—The heat wave, which had turned the central section of the country into a hot-house since last Monday probably will go into its second week of torrid temperatures, continuing what the weather observers declared today was an unprecedented heat wave in point of duration.

The heat is still intense over the central west, central and southern districts, according to the weather bureau. There has been a slight moderation in the far northwest. Readings exceeding ninety degrees occurred over a wide area. The government thermometer at Decatur, Illinois, registered 101 degrees.

No moderation is indicated for the middle and middle west sections, but local thunder showers are probable in the northwest and western lake regions and the upper Mississippi valley. In the south and southwest their weather will continue until Sunday night and probably longer.

Chicago's high temperature continued today, raising the total or lives to 23 and increasing the number of prostrations to more than two hundred during the six hot days. In several suburbs citizens have been warned under penalty of arrest to refrain from sprinkling lawns and to use water only for essential needs, the shortage of water having become acute.

Making highways less tiring to drivers' eyes by painting them a soothing color is the suggestion made in England.

COMMISSION REPORT HELP LABOR PROBLEM

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 23.—The coal commission is rushing to complete its report on wages, profits and costs in anthracite mining in order that its findings may be brought to bear in a labor situation of increasing intensity now arising in that industry.

The miners' wage contract expires August 31 and a strike is threatened unless negotiations for replacement are successful. In recent union elections supporters of John L. Lewis, present national head of the United Mine Workers, have met with sharp defeats and it is considered certain that when elements of the United Mine workers meet June 26 to frame new wage demands the elements newly come to dominance in the official circles of the union will at least set out to gain substantial advances.

WALTER FLOYD IS SHOT BY MAN WHEN ARREST ATTEMPTED

Alleged Assailant Surrenders To Officer; Deal Out in Search for Officer

At 1 o'clock Sunday morning, Undersheriff P. H. Deal and W. B. Walker, were believed returning to Ada with A. O'Neal, alleged to have fired the shot that sent Walter Floyd, city marshal at Roff, an uncertain patient to a Sulphur hospital with the discharge of an automatic shotgun in his body, the alleged result of his attempt to arrest O'Neal for carrying the firearm in a threatening position on the streets of Roff Saturday.

According to meagre reports received here early Sunday morning O'Neal with an alleged accomplice submitted to arrest to E. C. Mitchell, deputy sheriff, at his home two miles west of Roff shortly after the shooting and Mitchell notified officers here of the shooting and urged that officers be sent to bring the prisoners to the county jail here.

W. W. Walker, deputy sheriff, went to Mitchell's home early in the evening but returned reporting that he had left with O'Neal and an alleged accomplice but did not know where he was taking the prisoners.

Deal and W. B. Walker left later in the evening to pick up the whereabouts of the missing men.

Officers here entertain the belief that Mitchell may have taken the two men to another county for safety.

No word had been received by Roff officials at 12 o'clock concerning the condition of the city marshal but it was generally thought that the wounds would prove fatal.

According to reports received from officers at Roff, O'Neal had carried a shotgun in the pit of his arm about the streets of Roff Saturday after being warned that his action was against the law of the community.

Further reports maintain that Floyd went to arrest O'Neal on one of the side streets of the town when O'Neal is alleged to have fired on him and inflicted the wounds that now are said threaten his life. It could not be learned if there were any witnesses present at the time of the shooting.

According to reports the shooting occurred about 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening.

AMERICA CLAMPS IRON HAND DOWN ON BOOZE STORE

Entire Store of Liquor on British Ship Seized By Officials

WASHINGTON APPROVES

Mellon and Conferees Locked in Secret Session Over Matter

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 23.—Disclaiming all responsibility for the delay which complicated the seizure of the Baltic and Berengaria sealed and prohibition officials here sat liquor stores in New York, treasury tight today in their determination to confiscate all barliquor bought into American waters and reentered their previous announcement that it was up to the officers in New York harbor to carry this policy promptly into effect.

The only instructions issued from Washington during the day, it was asserted, were intended to tighten rather than to mitigate the binding force of the confiscation program. Assistant Secretary Moss ordered Dr. E. A. Sprague, public health officer of New York to revoke his permit the treasury heard he had given for the liner Berengaria to retain all liquor it carried as for medical purposes.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Uncle Sam after searching to seize John Bull's liquor on board the Baltic today halted, scratched his head and later resumed his raid on the steam ship's lockers, stocked with liquor under the British government's seal, intended for use on the homeward trip.

Secretary of the treasury Mellon, who promulgated the ruling by which the Baltic, Berengaria, and Paris were to be searched, joined officers in Washington in professing ignorance for the treasury for the cause, and officials of the customs house locked in conference, were not to be reached. At the office of the White Star line it was stated that on injunction proceedings had been instituted.

It was said later that the authorities had delayed to wait "through courtesy" for E. K. Sprague, local head of the United States public health service, who had issued a permit for retention of some liquor for medical supplies. When he failed to appear the raiders resumed their work.

S. Whittle of the customs service announced that a small part of the liquor might be returned if Dr. Sprague decided that it might be needed as medical supplies. He said that seizure of the sealed liquor on the Berengaria would be made soon. There was no indication of an intention to seize the vessels themselves although such an action has been declared possible under the Volstead Act.

Customs authorities had their task greatly augmented today when the French liner Paris steamed into quarantine with almost enough liquor in the hold to float her.

Standard Army Diet Now

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 23.—A "standard" bill of fare prepared by the army quartermaster general for the guidance of supply officers of the summer military training camps shows that the 39,000 or more young men enrolled are to be fed at an average cost of 45 cents a day for staple foods, supplemented with extras and dainties to 25 cents additional each. The menu, the war department said in an announcement tonight, gives a wide range of variety and assurance of quantity for the appetite of youngsters doing strenuous field work between meals.

The field officers, it was pointed out, will be bound to ironclad adherence of the sample menu. It is designed only to stimulate their own ingenuity but in the estimate of the quartermaster corps it serves to prove that the meals available to the camps are sufficient.

WIDOW FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER OF MERCHANT

(By the Associated Press)
NEWCASTLE, Penn., June 23.—Mrs. Josephine Best, a widow, was found not guilty of the murder of Carl H. Dufford, a wealthy furniture dealer, in a verdict returned by a jury tonight. Mrs. Best, former stenographer in Dufford's store, claimed the shooting was accidental, testifying that she meant the bullet which killed Dufford for herself, having determined to end her own life when he broke off their relations.

"I can make a guess. You also overheard the talk between myself and Bob Meager."

"Every word. How did you know?"

"Because I had a glimpse of you as my horse topped the bank. I had sought you everywhere after I finally got rid of Sanchez. The truth is I was still seeking your trail when I encountered Bob skulking there in the gully. Our meeting was not prearranged; it was an accident. You are perfectly justified in condemning me, as the facts stand in your mind. I am not even going to attempt defending myself. I fear it would be useless. I am merely going to serve you, whether you wish to be served or not. But listen a minute before you cast me off utterly. Will you do that?"

DATE FOR FORUM MEETING IS CHANGED

The Chamber of Commerce has changed the forum meetings from the evening to 11:30 and will have a luncheon at the Harris at the same hour. The first one will be held next Tuesday, at which time important matters are to come before the body.

Secretary Ralph Waner urges every member who expects to be present tonight, him as soon as convenient. It will be necessary to know the approximate number who will be present previous to the meeting.

The girl hesitated, biting her lips, angered by his insistence. "I cannot very well help listening; I doubt if I believe."

"Believe or not, as you desire please," he broke forth impatiently. "This is no time or place in which to play. The truth is I have been white with you—square. I came here seeking refuge just exactly as I explained to you last night. I knew this was a thieves' hole, of course, but had no suspicion that we were going to run into their outfit at this time. But when we did, I had to act along with them. There was no other way. I had you to consider, and I had something else to consider. I lied to them, not to you—to both Sanchez and Bob Meager. They are going to get the surprise of their lives tonight. Now listen. I came back there for you; I tried to trace you all the afternoon. I knew you couldn't be far away, because you had not taken the horse. Finally I decided you must have climbed the cliff on foot, and I came up and ran into Meager. Neither of us was very happy about it, but I had some knowledge of what was on foot from Sanchez. Only Bob wasn't there for that purpose; he pretended to be, but he had something else up his sleeve. You don't know what he was really up to, do you?"

"No," she said quickly, not willing yet to tell her tale, "why should I?"

Kellean went on, undisturbed. "I didn't know how long you were hiding there. But that is why I came back."

"Because you saw me?"

"Yes; and because I believed Bob was up to some trick. I even had reason to suspect, did I not, that you two might be there together?"

She faced him indignantly.

"You thought I would secretly meet him?"

"Why not? You evidently believe every evil of me. How did I know you had told the truth? You are his wife, by your own statement. Why shouldn't I suspect, finding you there together? Anyhow I went back to discover the truth. That is why I am here with you now."

"Believing what of me?"

"I hardly know—except not that. You were not with him, yet that is his horse you are riding. He fired at you, did he not?"

"Yes; he went past me down the gully after you left. It was dark then, and I was not seen. I stole his horse and rode away. I doubt if he even knew it was a woman he shot at."

The listlessness suddenly left her voice.

"But I am not going with you," she went on coldly. "If you are a man you will not try to urge me. I trusted you last night, but not now. Will you let me go?"

"Where?"

"I'll find my way; I have a horse, and the stars. By morning I'll be in sight of some point of guidance. Anyhow if the choice is between the cruel desert and you, I take the desert. Am I free to go?"

Kellean laughed.

"You leave it to me, then? Well, I say you are not going. I am not the sort of cur who would let you commit suicide just because you have taken a dislike to me. You would be lost in ten minutes; you don't know this country—it's treacherous as hell. Now listen; you are going to trust me whether you wish to or not. You needn't like me—that cuts no ice in this affair—but you are going to learn that when I give my word to either man or woman, I'm going to keep it. Now, that's flat. If you want to go back to Bob Meager, all right. I'll take you to him, and we're done. But when you talk of my turning you loose in this desert, to take your chances out there alone, I am the wrong kind ing to force her into his power, and she resented it immeasurably. "No, I will not," she said sharply. "Take your hand off my bride rein!"

She struck her mount suddenly, and the startled animal sprang forward, whirling sideways from the blow, careening against the flank of Kellean's horse as it swept swiftly past. The next instant the wild race was on through the black night. She rode recklessly, desperately, lashing her mount with the flapping end of her reins, yet, leap by leap, Kellean drew closer, riding as he often had before in heading off a wild stampede of cattle, pressing her horse more and more to the right into a half-circle as he drew near. Inch by inch they drew closer together, the girl's skirt flapping against his leg; then his iron grip closed on the bit of her horse, and the two animals came to a stop, pawing the air. Deborah was breathless, frightened, angry; but the man was conqueror and in no mood for compromise.

"You fool! do you know where you were going?" he exclaimed sternly. "Straight to the edge of that hole; a dozen strides more and you would have been over. By G—d! I got you in time, but that is the last trick you'll play on me."

"You—you dare speak to me like that—you?"

The man laughed grimly, the nervous reaction thus finding unconscious expression.

"Dare? I'll say dare. What else could I call you? You didn't even know what direction you were going, and headed straight for a five hundred foot drop. Now, listen; from now on I am master, and I'll begin right here."

He jerked the revolver from out the holster at her waist, and thrust it into his own belt. The significance of the action robbed the girl of all defiance; she suddenly felt weak, helpless.

"You—you mean I must do whatever you say?"

"Exactly that. You came to me at first voluntarily; you asked my help. I brought you here, and I am going to take you out safely. You are at liberty to hate me or like me, as you please. I am not asking anything but obedience. I tried being a man with you, and it failed to work; now I'll try being a brute and see what happens."

He straightened up in his saddle, evidently startled by something in the distance. She could barely distinguish his figure in the gloom, yet knew that his unoccupied hand was pointing to the right.

"Do you see that?" he asked, his voice tense and eager. "Down below there—that dull red light? It's Casebeer's outfit coming in?"

CHAUTAUQUA HAS SUCCESSFUL WEEK

College Administration Profits by Entertainments Brought Here for Week.

The series of chautauqua programs brought here by the college administration the past week proved to be a success in every way, according to all reports.

The programs proved very popular with the students and the people of the city. There are no figures available to show just how many attended the chautauqua but the big tent was filled on several occasions.

So popular was the entertainment provided by the chautauqua management that plans have been made to bring a series here next summer.

The chautauqua provided a wide variety of entertainment for those who attended. The programs were featured by music of high class musicians, by instructive lectures by people who are among the best in each line, and by novelty entertainments that delighted the older people as well as proving very popular with the children.

The object of the chautauqua is instructive, as well as entertaining, and each year the programs are so arranged as to bring out one dominant thought. This year that thought was patriotism and love of country.

So popular was the chautauqua that it paid itself out and has resulted in the gain of a good sum of money for the student loan fund of the college, by which needy students may receive the assistance required to finish their education.

The exact amount to be received by this fund is not yet known but President Linscheid of the college states that the total gain to the fund will be about $300.

Bridge Cave-in Not Drawback to Construction Work

The Katy railroad bridge across Canadian at Tyrola was the scene yesterday of a slight accident when one section of the old bridge gave way. A section had slightly injured in the accident.

The road is rushing work on the bridge in order to get it into shape for use. Approximately a hundred men are being used in the repair of the great damage done by the heavy rains of two weeks ago.

It is believed that the bridge will again be ready for use in five days. The accident of yesterday did not interfere with the progress of the repairs.

Every time our peaceful city gets over one excitement, some despoiler of tranquility drops a bomb in the quiet restfulness of the evening and gone is our tranquility.

Just as twilight was nestling down over the only active pedestrian, the traffic cop, a commotion was heard in the vicinity of the Palm Garden and many an elderly flapper gathered her dignity, in by gasps while younger ones, giggled and squirmed as two apparently half dressed soda fountain cowboys emerged from under their straw sombreros.

The traffic cop left his beat as did the traffic.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HEADS TO HOLD MEET

For the purpose of perfecting an organized drainage system throughout the southeastern part of the state to prevent further loss from flood ravages, leaders of chambers of commerce in the principal cities in this section of the state will meet for a beneficial discussion of plans at Atoka June 29.

The move, which has long been considered important, was brought closer to the needs of the people through the recent floods which caused irreparable losses to wash lands in this part of the country. The conference will attempt to perfect an organized drainage system to be followed out over the section for the general good of the land owners with the general view of preserving the land from waste from washouts.

Secretary Ralph Warner of the local chamber of commerce will probably carry the terms of co-operation from the local membership.

The move is being sponsored by the state chamber of commerce.

SORBONNE GRANTS LAW DEGREE TO AMERICAN WOMAN

FUTURE OF AUSTRIA BECOMING BRIGHTER

(By the Associated Press)
VIENNA.—Austria presents a brighter picture today than at any time since the war. The crown is steadily appreciating in value, unemployment is lessening, the cost of living is falling, and the spirit of the population is improving. The allied loan apparently has ushered in a new era for a people which has suffered bitterly during the last 10 years.

The budget shows a remarkable improvement, the deficit since November having been reduced by nearly 3 billion crowns (about $4,500,000), representing a reduction of 55 per cent. Bank deposits have notably increased, which is regarded as an indication of increasing confidence in the general economic and financial situation of the country, especially in the national currency. During January the total deposits increased by nearly thirty-six billion paper crowns, a record figure. This recrudescence of thrift is all the more remarkable in view of the fact that a portion of the public savings was also absorbed in the subscription to the internal gold loan, which has reached nearly five million dollars.

The visit to Belgrade of Dr. Siegel, the prime minister, has brought about improvement in the relations between Austria and Jugoslavia. The many vexatious obstacles to travel between the two countries, as well as passport difficulties, are now being removed; the questions of the sequestration of Austrian property in Jugoslavia, and of industrial enterprises in the former Austrian provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina soon will be settled; and the beginning of a new commercial agreement on a large scale seems assured.

EFFECT OF EGYPTIAN RAGE IN JEWELRY TALKED

(By the Associated Press)

HER ANTIQUES

By ANNETTE SYMMES

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

When Content Hapgood, after a winter of hard work in the office, came down with "grip," and did not gain after it as she should, Grandma Hapgood, on her little hilly Massachusetts farm, wrote inviting her namesake to make her a visit.

Grandma was house-cleaning, and on a certain sunny day in late April chose to wash the blankets and coverlets, and to air the comforters, hence the backyard was a riot of gay color.

"I'm going to give you one of those woven coverlets when you get married, Content," said grandma, "and a pair of the home-woven blankets that my mother made, an' enough of the patch-work quilts to make up a bed."

"Oooh-oooh, grandma!" cried Content. "How lovely! I do love the old things so much more than new. They mean so much more, some way!"

"I know," smiled grandma. "That's why I want you to have 'em. Mercy! Here comes the motorcycle man, tearin' along as he always does! I sh'd think that young feller'd break his neck!"

The motorcycle man, in spite of his speed, had a ready hand for his cap when he spied Content. Content blushed. She had her suspicions about the motorcycle man. Twice his machine had balked mysteriously in front of the house.

Late that afternoon she was digging dandelion greens back of the barn. Her grandparents had driven to the village and she was just thinking that she ought to go up to the house and take in the bedding before the dampness began to gather, when she heard a car coming. Presently she saw a small truck stop at the gate.

The man who alighted she recognized, even without the aid of the spinning wheel in the back of the truck, as a particularly pestiferous dealer in antiques, who, about a fortnight before, had been so determined to secure some of grandma's things that both women had been glad that grandma was within call.

Content kept out of sight as he thumped on the door, glad the house was locked. After a few moments he retraced his steps and she listened for the sound of the car starting, wondering why it was so long. When it finally did start she emerged from her concealment and rounded the house—then stopped aghast! The clotheslines were bare! The precious, wonderful old hand-wrought bed furnishings had been gone—and in a flash she understood! The antique man, believing the place deserted, had made hay while the sun shone and was carrying home the crop!

"And I don't know his car number or his name," half sobbed the girl. "I burned his wretched little card the other day! Oh, what shall I do?"

She started running up the road towards the nearest house, where there was a telephone, crying as she ran. A short distance above the road forked and she knew that he might easily get beyond her reach. The telephone there was a leisurely affair. Suddenly she heard behind her a familiar roaring rush, and the motorcycle man drew up beside her.

"What's the matter? Anybody sick?" he queried anxiously.

Then out came the story in sobbing gasps and the motorcycle man's face grew black with anger.

"Rascal!" he cried, "but we'll get him yet. Hop into the side-car! Put on this coat," producing a service overcoat from the side-car, "and get in quick!"

It seemed to Content that they were flying. If she had not been so angry she would have been afraid. At the fork of the road, two miles beyond, the motorcycle man slowed down and scanned the road.

"He's got one brand new tire of different pattern than the rest," he explained. "Here's his trail, to the right." He let out the machine again.

In the very next yard the little truck stood before the door, and the dealer was struggling with a heavy bureau. His face changed color as the motorcycle whirled into the yard and he recognized Content.

The motorcycle man stated the case pungently before a surprised audience composed of the family who lived there, and demanded restitution.

The dealer remonstrated, declaring that he had bought the things at a bargain because "the old woman" needed the money.

"I keep them. I keep them!" he cried.

"Alright!" snapped the motorcycle man. "You can tell that to the police! It will be quite an ad for you in this section, even if you ain't out of a jail sentence! Fork over or I'll call up the station at Milray now!"

The dealer said that the game was up. Violently he pulled out the bedding and sternly that motorcycle man insisted that Content tally the result of his disgorging. The lady of the house willingly agreed to keep the things till next day, and then ignoring the dealer's sulphurous monologue, the motorcycle headed for home.

There were hot biscuits and honey for supper and the motorcycle man helped eat them. And as he ate he blessed that antique dealer from the bottom of his heart.

NO FLAPPERS IN INDIA, REPORTS Y. W. C. A. WORKER

Miss Ethel Cutler.

For anyone tired of the eternal flapper there is a retreat. Go to India. There girls remain as iron-bound by custom as the girls of generations ago. This is the report brought back by Miss Ethel Cutler, Y. W. C. A. worker, who just returned from five months in India. And out of 150,000,000 women not more than a thousand each year go to schools higher than American grade schools.

HUGE METEOR, LOST FOR CENTURY, FOUND

BUENOS AIRES.—The whereabouts of an aerolite of great size, which was revealed to the Spanish conquerors by Indians about the middle of the seventeenth century, and of which traces have been lost since the year 1812, have again been ascertained, according to a communication received by Professor Clemente Onelli, an Argentine naturalist, from a Senor Leberthou, who claims the rediscovery. The aerolite is located in the province of Santiago del Estero, in the uninhabited Otumpa pampa, which is also known as "Sky Pampa," after the celestial origin of the stone.

Up to the year 1812 the situation of the aerolite was well known, and from the minerals which constitute its mass several flint-like minerals were made. It was about the middle of the seventeenth century that the Spaniards, guided by the Vilelas Indians, discovered the great meteoric mass, half buried in the sands. Reports say that a large portion was brought to Buenos Aires and a part sent to the British Museum.

After the war of independence and the long period of formation of the Argentine nation had passed, several expeditions were sent out to search for the aerolite. Other attempts were made in more recent times, and it was only this year that an attempt made by the authorities of Santiago del Estero province ended in failure.

According to certain analysis alleged to have been made in 1812, the meteorite was constituted of pure meteoric iron, nickel and cobalt.

THE MEANING OF A THOUGHT

By Clara McCulloch

Thoughts are very useful. To make the world sublime. They create great inventions. And everything divine. When we see a noble character. We may know that one was taught.

The greatest thing of all—good truths. The meaning of a thought.

If snares in life come our way. We should cast them to one side. Give in return smiles and flowers. And send them far and wide.

Give to that friend a helping hand. Who is saddened on life's way. Perhaps a soul has fallen. By harsh words some one did say.

Success in life comes not to us. On flowery beds of ease. We must be brave and give and take. For all we cannot please.

Just try real hard to do what's right. In the way we have been taught. And ever, ever keep in mind. The meaning of a thought.

Some may wonder how a person Can be good, kind and true. When he has had his failures. And disappointments too.

These events wish to conceal. He may wish to conceal. And look beyond for greater things. Which to him seem more real.

We can achieve our happiness. By kind words we may say. And later sit in solitude. At the end of a perfect day.

We shall know our deeds are balanced. And feel glad that we were taught. To supremely understand. The meaning of a thought.

The forecast was based on the condition of the crop on April 1.

EPISCOPALS OUT FOR EDUCATION

Education Problems of Religious and Secular Character Talked.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 9.—Educational problems of both a religious and secular character will be discussed at the annual conference of educational secretaries of the Episcopal Church, which will be held in Omaha, Nebraska, April 12-16, under the auspices of the department of religious education of that organization. The conference will bring together educational leaders from all of the 86 dioceses and missionary districts of the church in the United States.

A feature of the conference will be a discussion of the problem of education in the rural districts, which will be led by Harold W. Foght, of the United States Bureau of Education, and author of "The Rural Teacher and His Work." Dr. Foght is the government specialist in rural schools. Bishop Longley, of Iowa, will outline the educational problems in the small community, and other speakers on the same subject will be Rev. Charles N. Lathrop, executive secretary of the social service department of the church and Miss Charlotte Forsythe of Pittsburgh. Another important topic scheduled for discussion is the moving picture, and a third is that of week day religious instruction in the public schools, the discussion of which will be led by Edward Sargent, who is in charge of the work for the church.

Rev. Dr. William E. Gardner, secretary of the department of religious education, announced today that plans have been completed under which, on Sunday, April 15, more than a score of cities and towns will be provided with educational addresses and sermons by the distinguished educational leaders and clergymen attending the conference.

In a statement issued by Dr. Gardner on religious education in the public schools, it was announced that in 96 cities in 21 states, secular boards of education are now cooperating with the various religious denominations in granting time from the school day for the religious instruction of pupils, under the denominational auspice, whose parents have given their consent to this arrangement.

OIL NEWS

Work on the discovery well near Beebe in section 32-5-5 is expected to be completed by the last of this week or the first of next. As soon as this is completed, the work of deepening the new well in the same section will start, according to information gained from the oil men today.

Ed Gillette will have charge of cleaning out the wells and putting them in good condition in the Francis field, according to an agreement said to have been reached between Mr. Gillette and the Arkansas Natural Company, the company which now has charge of the property. Work will start in a few days.

CHINA TO END PRACTICE OF SENDING STUDENTS TO JAPAN

(By the Associated Press)

TOKIO.—The Chinese government has decided to discontinue the system of sending students to Japan at the government's expense, the provinces which contributed part of the money having been irregular in their payments.

At present there are in Tokio 127 Chinese students matriculating at the Tokio Imperial University; 157 at the Tokio higher normal school; 175 at the Tokio university of commerce; 1,179 at various other government schools, and 1,071 at various public and private schools. It is said that these Chinese students are on the whole, not inferior to the Japanese either in scholarship or personality, and with a few exceptions are diligently taking to their studies.

Chamber Commerce Members of Kansas City to Tour State

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 6.—A delegation of approximately 125 members of the Kansas City chamber of commerce, headed by N. N. Dalton, president; Bruce Forrester, vice-president; E. M. Clendinning, assistant to the president; and G. W. Watts, chairman of the agricultural department of the chamber will conduct a brief trade trip through northwestern Oklahoma April 26, according to an announcement of John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture. Mr. Whitehurst said he had been invited to accompany the delegation while it is in Oklahoma and would probably accept.

The principal feature of the visit will be a banquet at Woodward. Leaving Woodward, the party will stop at Alva and will go from there into Kansas. They will visit Amarillo, Tex., before entering Oklahoma.

Mr. Whitehurst said the visit is planned to study the agricultural and business opportunities in the northwestern corner of the state.

U. S. Officials Forsee Year of Prosperity After Period of Handicap in Territory

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 5.—Despite serious handicaps during the past few years, industrial Alaska has recovered its stability and, in the words of a Department of Interior announcement, is riding once more on an even keel "like a ship righting herself after a terrible gale."

"The year closed with an increase in the commerce of the territory over 1921 of $20,780,401 and with a healthy growth in practically all the industries," says the statement issued from the department of Secretary Work. "Exports from the territory of Alaska more than doubled the imports, leaving the balance of trade in Alaska's favor by a handsome margin."

"The outstanding increase in value of shipments to the United States is shown in canned salmon, both as to the number of pounds and value. This was due to the revival of the salmon canning industry, as well as a more nearly normal run of salmon in Alaska. An increase also worthy of note, because of its rapid growth, is that of pickled fish represented primarily by the herring salteries number of large herring salteries were installed during 1922 in southwest Alaska and these were kept running until late in the fall to meet the demands for this seafood."

"In spite of serious gold mining reverses during the past few years, the mineral output of the territory for 1922 was approximately $18,000,000, or an increase over 1921 of more than $1,000,000. This increase was due primarily to a larger output of copper, yet it reflects in some measure the improvement of the entire mineral industry. Pre-war figures can be considered only in comparisons, and for the five years ended in 1914 the average annual value of Alaska's mineral output was $19,700,000. So, compared in values, Alaska's mineral output in 1922 is most encouraging for a revival of this industry."

"The canned clam industry, which was somewhat dormant during 1920-21, took on new life in 1922, and the outlook for a larger pack in 1923 is good. With shipments aggregating $144,471, the shrimp industry is showing a steady growth."

Newer Form of Iron Helps Give Renewed Vim and Energy

Actual blood tests show that a tremendous number of people lack iron in their blood and that they are ill for no other reason than lack of iron. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man physically weak, nervous, irritable, and easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will, which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. If you are weak, nervous and run-down, you owe it to yourself to try this newer form of iron, known as Nuxated Iron. Begin today. Nuxated Iron is not a secret remedy, but one that is well known to physicians and druggists everywhere.

WILSON BEATS BACK

Senator Pat Harrison's authoritative statement here last night that people all over the country are coming to recognize Woodrow Wilson for what he really is, a master statesman and a leader of world vision, should cause rejoicing among all men who love to see right prevail.

"The name of Woodrow Wilson will set people cheering anywhere," Senator Harrison declared.

If ever truth was crushed to earth it was when the United States heaped upon Woodrow Wilson scorn and prejudice born of ignorance. His defeat after the war was perhaps a natural reaction but it was the greatest travesty on justice this country has ever taken part in.

Certainly Woodrow Wilson is coming back into the esteem of his people. As time goes on recognition of his greatness will be more and more pronounced.—Ardmoreite.

Life is a game of give and take and the fellow who refuses to play the game seldom gets any where. In community affairs the fellow who thinks he knows it all and refuses to give consideration to the ideas of others usually becomes a disturber and member of a faction. Factional fighting has been the ruin of many promising places, but some men would rather see their home town grow up in weeds and the houses turned into bat roosts than surrender a single idea that may have penetrated their thick skulls. Going to the mat with another fellow affords them more joy than to see the community prosper by following some other course. Benjamin Franklin's admonition to the continental congress that all must hang together else they would hang separately applies with equal force to every community in the land today. Where the business men do not hang together they usually go to the wall in course of time or if it is a rural community it loses its best citizens in course of the wrangling and it becomes a less desirable place to live.

A number of Oklahoma editors are telling what they like about their home towns. Of course each thinks his town is the best on the map. Of course there are some good towns in Oklahoma and many of them very desirable places in which to live, but after a residence of nearly seventeen years in Ada we are more firmly convinced than ever that there is not a place in Oklahoma or out of it that measures up to our notion as well as does Ada. There is room for improvement in some things of course, but our idea has always been that there would be many more disadvantages in other places, hence we are content to stay right here and do what we can to make Ada a still more desirable place for all who believe in progress. It would require quite a bit of space to give all our reason for liking Ada.

Looks like President Harding has surrendered to the die hards of his party who had declared war on his world court plan. He now comes forward with some red tape suggestions that would take years to put into practice, if at all from which it appears that the whole idea is one for campaign purposes only from here out. Getting a second term is of more importance to Harding than any sort of world court, so the thing to do is to back gracefully out of the muddle he placed himself in and try to hold the support of all factions of his party. With the support of the Democratic senators Harding could easily have put his original plan through, but it is now a different matter.

A spiritualist medium says that he has been in communication with Caruso and that the spirit of the singer says his voice has improved so much since his departure from this planet that in comparison his voice as known to mortals was like a squeaking pulley. Some progress we'll say, but we would like to have a demonstration of the matter. If we are able to write better editorials in the next world than we now turn out we shall certainly try to give the News readers the benefit of our increased knowledge.

Emboldened by their success in New York, the wet forces are making attacks on the dry laws in a number of other states with a view of putting an end to co-operation with the national government in the enforcement of dry laws. This is the same sort of stupidity that the liquor interests followed for years and finally ended with the wiping out of the legalized traffic. The result in this case will be to rouse the dry advocates and cause more drastic regulations than ever to be enacted.

In all discussions about presidential possibilities the name McAdoo keeps bobbing up. McAdoo has a long record behind him of accomplishing big things and his enemies have never been able to find a black mark on his character. His business and political experience has brought him into contact with all sections of the country and all classes and conditions of people. It is possible that he will be heard from before the fight ends.

This is the longest day of the year, according to the almanac and the sun will begin to turn southward for the next six months.

Clyde Calhoun Morris, pastor of the First Baptist church of Ada, doing the preaching, is reputed to be one of the greatest singers of the south. Enormous Cost Attached In Cement Manufacture Cement needed to carry on improvements in your community can be made only if large quantities of fuel are available at the mills. Commonly, the fuel burned is coal. In times of coal shortage, few industries are so hard hit as the cement industry.

Were you to step into the kiln building of a modern cement plant, you could not fail to be impressed by the huge revolving kilns and the roar of the flames inside them. Here the raw materials are being burned to clinker at a temperature of from 2500 to 3000 degrees Fahrenheit—more heat than is required to melt steel.

To produce this heat, coal ground to a fine powder is blown into the kiln, where it burns in a tongue of flame 30 feet long. The kilns have an unending appetite for coal—and still more coal.

Coal or other fuel must also be used to produce the heat and power required to dry and grind the raw materials before they are burned, and again to grind the hard burned clinker into finished cement. Quarrying raw materials, conveying them through the mills, handling and sacking cement by machinery for shipment—all these operations swell the total demand for power.

In practically every stage of the process, coal or other fuel must be used for power or heat.

Ordinarily a half a ton of coal—or equivalent oil or gas—is burned in making a ton of cement. If you were to pack lump coal into an empty cement sack until you could just tie it, you would have barely enough fuel to make a sack of cement.

During coal shortages, cement companies in order to get deliveries must generally pay more for coal. Last summer, for instance, many of them had to pay several times as much as normally. Coal prices are still high compared with a few years ago.

The cement industry is the fourth largest manufacturing consumer of coal and the largest user of pulverized coal in the United States. In addition, plants using fuel other than coal in 1922 consumed more than 4,400,000 barrels of crude oil and over 3,400,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas for power and cement burning.

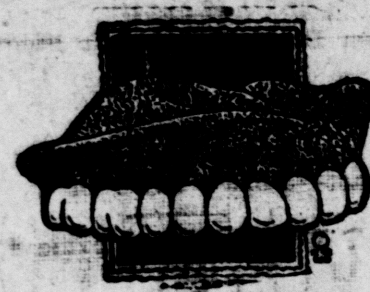

By such large purchases of fuel, machinery and other supplies, and their use in producing an essential commodity, the cement industry contributes to local and national prosperity.

Ada Swelters in Record Heat Wave for Present Year

That the temperature of yesterday afternoon registered the highest for this year is a statement that few will wish to doubt. In fact, the only trouble is to believe that the highest point was not actually much higher.

The actual maximum temperature for the year thus far is 96 degrees reached yesterday afternoon. The government thermometer had achieved 93 degrees the day before a record for the year up to that time, but its efforts on that day were easily eclipsed by the height climbed yesterday afternoon. E. A. McMillan, government weather official here does not hold out any hope for a cool summer for the remainder of the warmer portion of the year.

HARDING BECOMES FARMER AGAIN

tion of all the governmental agencies, and with them the co-operation of the fine forces of leadership which the great national farm organizations have developed, made it possible to secure a measure of helpful results in this department of our endeavors, which has been especially gratifying. Moreover, it has found prompt reflection in the improved status of every agricultural concern. We have been officially informed that owing to improved conditions the farm products of the year for 1922 were worth $2,000,000,000 more than they were in 1921. Clearly, we are through the worst of the depression and can reasonably expect gradual improvement.

"The balance within the industry, as between livestock and grain production, has been restored. While the war lasted there was no possibility of overproduction of such staples as wheat and cotton, for example; and when peace suddenly burst upon the world, the farmer had plans for a long future which he could not readjust instantly. No human wisdom could possibly have foretold the course that would be taken by supplies and demand; and it is as futile as it is obvious to us now to say that wisdom would have dictated at least a less precipitate policy in removing the wartime restrictions and guidance in dealing with some aspects of production and distribution.

War Finance Corporation Active.

"When the present administration came into responsibility, agriculture was in the lowest ebb of depression. The immediate need was for a measure to meet an emergency. There was urgent call to keep open and so far as possible enlarge our foreign markets, and this was accomplished by a prompt policy of placing necessary credits at the disposal of those engaged in finding foreign markets for our foodstuffs; by arresting and reversing the drastic deflation which had the seeming, under the former administration, of being aimed especially at the destruction of agriculture's prosperity; by recalling the War Finance Corporation from its state of suspended animation, giving it a credit of $1,000,000,000 in government funds, and recommissioning it to afford relief to the American farmer. The wisdom of this action was demonstrated by results.

"Four hundred million dollars have been loaned by this institution, three-fourths of it to the farming and livestock interests. At the same time the emergency tariff measure was passed, by which to secure the farmer's home market against the flood of competing articles from distant corners of the earth. The new tariff schedules saved for the American farmer a vitally important and gravely menaced home market. The resumption of the War Finance operations, backed by the resources of the only government on earth that was able to summon such a credit, enabled the American farmer to compete for sales abroad."

The president enumerated other measures taken by the government to aid the farmer including re-establishment of an active basis of the Federal Farm Loan Board, reduction of freight rates on farm products and legislation to facilitate co-operative marketing of farm products; to prevent harmful gambling in agricultural futures, to regulate and control the packing industry; to remove restrictions upon the operation of the joint stock land banks; to authorize formation of irrigation districts whereby the water using settlers are brought together in associations to conduct their relations with the federal government, and to extend the time on payments due from irrigation farmers to the government.

"If the recital of this long list of accomplishments in the farmer's behalf shall have seemed to suggest that Washington has been devoting itself with a special and perhaps a partial assiduity to the agricultural interests," Mr. Harding asserted, "I shall reply that the farmer has received nothing more than was coming to him; nothing more than he needed; nothing more than was good for him; and nothing that was not also good for all of our national interests, bound up as they are in the nation-reaching mutual-ity of dependence and interdependence. I tell you frankly that I am proud to be able to come to you today and tell you of what has been done, because in doing it we have served not only the farmer but everybody else in this land.

Agricultural Credit Act.

"But that is not all. I have reserved till the last what we may well appraise the crowning achievement of the entire list. I refer to the code of agricultural credit legislation known as the agricultural credit act of 1923, which became law in the closing days of the last congress. It has not been possible yet to perfect machinery for administering this act, but I do not hesitate to express confidence that this scheme of agricultural credits, taken in connection with the other enactments I have described furnishes the basis for the most enlightened, modern, sound and efficient scheme of agricultural finance that has been set up in any country, and will enable the farmer in no distant future to free himself from obstacles which have made it difficult heretofore to conduct farm operations upon a sound, business-like basis."

The president explained the provisions of the credit act in detail and added:

"Many people have been inclined to be skeptical of benefits which might follow the enactment of legislation to give the farmer a better system of credit. They have said that the farmer needs better prices for his crops and livestock, rather than easier ways to borrow money. That is true, but these friends do not seem to understand that prices of crops and livestock are directly influenced by credit facilities.

"In the past, farmers have been obliged to finance their productive enterprises by borrowing money for short terms. When times are good they have no difficulty in renewing these loans, but in periods of financial stress too many farmers have found themselves under the necessity of pushing their crops or their livestock on the market, not infrequently before the latter is fully fitted for market, in order to pay notes which they had expected to be able to renew, thus at times flooding the market and seriously depressing prices. Under a system of intermediate credit, administered with reference to the farmers' seasonal requirements, they should be able to market both their crops and livestock in a more orderly fashion, and this in itself will be a potent influence in keeping prices more stable and reasonable.

"I thoroughly agree that what is needed is fair prices; and I very well know that the farmer wants to get out of debt rather than to get further into debt. But it is my opinion that both these ends will be much more quickly accomplished through this new system of agricultural credits."

GOSPEL MEETING MAKES RAPID PROGRESS HERE

The meeting being held at the Church of Christ on East Main street by Brother C. L. Wilkerson are progressing very nicely. On last evening another vast audience gathered and splendid interest was shown. Mr. Wilkerson is a clear logical speaker holding forth the Word of God with great earnestness.

The subject of the discourse for Friday evening was "This Treasure in Earthen Vessels" which was presented in a very forceful manner.

Mr. Wilkerson began by explaining what the "Treasure" was and what was meant by "Earthen Vessels."
He said that the gospel was this great treasure and that the Earthen Vessels were the men who proclaimed it, and he gave several illustrations showing how Peter and Paul had shown that they were vessels of the Lord.

Mr. Wilkerson continued by showing that he could not pray for Angels, the Lord, nor the Holy Spirit to come down from on high and tell a man what to do to be saved apart from what the Bible said. This was made plain by several clear-cut illustrations. He said that he did not claim that the Angels, the Lord, or the Holy Spirit did not have the ability to designate what to do to be saved, but they being Heavenly vessels did not have the authority to do the work of the Earthen Vessels, which were men, and that there was a difference between ability and authority.

He clearly pointed out how God committed the gospel to men and told them to go teach the people.

To stress his points further, Mr.
Wilkerson made this very emphatic by the use of many forceful illustrations. Furthermore he showed how a great deal of responsibility rested upon those who proclaimed the Gospel, but should they succeed in reaching one's heart a large portion of the responsibility is shifted.

In announcing the subjects for the future meetings, Mr. Wilkerson announced that on Sunday morning he would speak on, "Are You a Light Bearer," and on Sunday evening, "The Homeward Way." This is one of his best sermons and a large audience is expected.

OIL NEWS

Greater activity in the oil fields of this county than has been noticeable since the spring of 1921 is expected by the boys in the game for the next sixty or ninety days.
The recent blocking of leases in many parts of the county is expected to cause several other deep tests to start. These, with the wells now drilling, will keep the interest of the entire oil fraternity interested and with scouts on the ground.

Lancaster & Smith's test east of Ada on the P. A. Norris farm in section 34-4-6 began running the 10 inch pipe Saturday and will resume drilling. The depth is now 625 feet and there have been showings of both oil and gas. The 10 men pipe will be carried to 1,000 or 1-100 feet, according to the operators.

The LaSalle well now drilling between 1300 and 1400 feet in section 31-5-5, near Bebee, got a good showing of gas Friday. The Bebee sand should be reached around 1-700 feet.

The Homack company is drilling below 1,700 feet in section 33-5-8, in the Allen field. They got salt water at 1,700 but cased it off and are going ahead.

Smith and Lee have placed their Wade No. 5 in section 3-4-7 on the pump. It is reported to be good for about 20 barrels. This is in the Francis field.

The discovery well in the Be-bee pool, in section 32-5-5, since it was cleaned out and pitted on the pump, is making 25 barrels a day and is considered a good paying well.

Two shifts have been put to work on the new well on the same farm and in the same section. This hole is approximately 2,500 feet and is to be carried to 3,000 or more.

A news reporter stood for five minutes at the corner of Main and Broadway Saturday night shortly after 9 o'clock and counted 76 autos passing during that period. The traffic officer was a busy man.

ADA MIT ARTISTS PREPARE ATTACK

Cooper and Sparks Slated for Heavy Ends of Fistic Matches.

While the thermometer buzzed at a dizzy perch, Ada's two upholders of pugilistic combat, continued their workout for their matches on July 3 and 4 here and at Oklahoma City.

Archie Cooper, who will fling the wicked glove here in the ceremonies July 4 at the new baseball park in the main go with Young Clabby of St. Joseph, Missouri, is keeping in perfect condition and expected to deliver with his usual kick.

Cooper and Claude Sparks, who fights Kid Whittington at Oklahoma City, July 3, have been mixing things up in general here during the past week and will continue their grind during the next week.

Sparks is expected to come out on the heavy end of the meet, when he tangles with Whittington in the semifinals, sport writers giving him the best of the odds by reason of his last victory at Oklahoma City.

Cooper, who is champion of the state in his weight, will defend his title against one of the strongest opponents in the southwest, Clabby, being known as a clever hitter and one of the toughest customers in the ring.

Clabby passes on from the Ada ring to Des Moines, Iowa for his next fight on July 15, when he is staged for the principal go in a card to be pulled there. Clabby comes here highly recommended.

A. R. Dixon, Cooper's manager, received word today from Clabby's manager that his fighter was in perfect condition and would make things difficult for the Ada challenger.

A good string of preliminaries have been promised. Ada fight fans on July 4 in what is rated as the best card put out by the Norman Howard post, American Legion sponsors of several fights here.

Although none of the preliminary or semi-final contestants have been announced, those in charge promise that an interesting card will be presented.

To allow special accommodations for the crowd expected at the fight, which is being held in connection with the Legion Fourth of July celebration here, a special ring will be constructed at the ball park with the grand stand of the park serving for ample seating capacity.

An invitation is extended to the ladies to attend this boxing program, the fact that it will be held in the open being an attraction for their attendance.

Manager A. R. Dixon stated that Sparks and Cooper would work out at the park during the coming week with a small admission fee charged to bear the expenses of the construction of the ring.

Clabby will arrive here Monday week and establish training quarters for the fight on the following Wednesday.

WETUMKA COMING FOR GAME HERE

Best Material of That Section to be on Lineup for Sunday Tilt.

The sweltering temperature of past 90 marks will be cool compared with the rivalry in evidence on the baseball diamond at the new park Sunday afternoon when the Wetumka team comes here for their shot at the local swatters.

A. O. Green, manager of the local diamond stars, has indicated that Wetumka backers have pledged more than their attendance here Sunday to sow up the old ball game in which their gladiators are contestants. Green stated Saturday that he expected not less than 100 Wetumka visitors here for the Sunday game.

All indications point to the chance of one of the stiffest games ever seen on the local diamond, since practically all of the old diamond stars from that section of the country will be on the lineup. The Wetumka team will be composed of several of the Okemah players and others of former league fame.

Green indicated that Williams would take the mound in the game Sunday afternoon with practically the same lineup as has graced the diamond for the entire season.

A stiff schedule is on hand for the remainder of the season, the next being with Konawa here on the following Sunday.

Wilson, the ancient rival will be held for games on July 2 and 4.

TULSA.—Tulsa Kiwanians journeyed to Sapulpa this week 50 strong for the first of five inter-city meetings planned for the near future. Other meetings are to be at Pawhuska, Muskogee, Bartlesville and Dewey. After the local club has met with the clubs of all five cities they will be invited here for a joint meeting, it has been announced.

"Eli" Oarsmen Make Clean Sweep of Annual Regatta For Ancient Rowing Title

REGATTA COURSE, New London, Conn., June 22.—Sweeping to rowing glory it has not known for nearly a decade, Yale's powerful varsity crew capped the climax of a remarkable come-back this season under American home-bred coaching methods, with a smashing, spectacular victory over Harvard as dusk was settling Friday evening over the picturesque Thames river course.

Flashing across the finish line fully five lengths ahead of a gallant but badly beaten Crimson eight, the Blue shell closed its 1923 season with an undefeated record and gave the Elis their first clean sweep since 1915 in the annual rowing struggle with their ancient rivals.

Friday morning the Yale freshmen and junior varsity eights added their measure to the Blue tinge of triumph that settled Friday night over their fifty-sixth annual regatta between the two universities. The Eli Cubs sprang something of an upset by walking away from the Cambridge veerings to win by five lengths while the New Haven Junior varsity, led by Captain B. B. Pelly, scored even more decisively over the Crimson second crew, leading the way by five and a half lengths.

The first Harvard-Yale regatta was rowed in barges. Three years later, on the Connecticut River, Harvard's eight and four-oared barges defeated two Yale six-oared boats. In 1859 the events were rowed on Lake Quinsigamond. The regattas were suspended during the Civil War until 1864 when they were resumed on Quinsigamond, continuing there until 1870. Harvard and Yale then entered the Rowing Association of American Colleges and suspended the dual event until 1876 when the four-mile event was resumed at Springfield, Mass. Harvard and Yale each won a race on that course and then first regatta was held here in 1878. Harvard's victory was an exception; the event has been held on the Thames ever since. In 1918 the crews met on the Housatonic river at Derby at two miles. The race was not held in 1917 because of the World War.

The complete record follows: Yale-Harvard Boat Race Records 1852 to 1922.

Boy Scout News

By Harry Miller

The first camping trip of the season will take place next Thursday.

All boys 10, 11 and 12 years old, furnished Ng?

who want to take this trip should come in and see Mr. Miller at the Chamber of Commerce. A list will be furnished you. This trip will be a short one. It will be a two or three day trip. It will be to one of the three places, Turner Falls, Sulphur or Byrds' Mill. It all depends upon how much the boys want to pay for the trip. If it is to Turner Falls it will cost $1.50 and your eats. If it is to Sulphur it will be $1.00 and your eats. If it is to Byrds' Mill it will be 75 cents and your eats. We will be glad to take these younger boys to any of these places if the money for transportation and incidentals will be provided. If you are interested be sure and come in and see Mr. Miller. This trip is for boys who are scouts and who are not scouts. The camping season is on so get ready.

Vanoss scouts are planning on having an open meeting for parents and scouts next Tuesday evening.

Lawrence scouts are becoming active again and we are expecting to have quite a snappy bunch there this summer and winter. As soon as summer school is out, we will start our summer camping in earnest, so boys you had better be getting your eats and camp supplies ready. Boys if you can save your money to get a mess kit be sure and do so for they are mighty handy around a camp. While there is an opportunity to cut grass and earn a little spending money, buy for yourself a few scout things such as an ax, bird book guide, scout knife, pup tent and other small and cheap camping equipment.

We are expecting a lot of help this summer from our old and true friends who have formerly helped us out with cars and other means of transportation down to the camping places. We want to get all of our camping done before the very hottest part of the summer is here and so that all of us will get the most good out of it. Make your plans to go camping early.

With a little more effort on the part of all we will be able to register this year a 25 per cent increase in the membership of the scouts this year which will mean 501 scouts in this county. If you know of any boy who wants to join and needs a little help along that line let us know right away so that we can get him in.

Mrs. Paul Norrell and son Paul Dick returned Saturday from a visit to her sister, Mrs. Stewart at Stigler.

LAUSANNE, June 23.—Conference circles late tonight were thrown into further confusion by the issuance of a communique by the Italian delegation denying reports given earlier to the press that Italy had not forwarded her instructions to Lausanne concerning the treatment of the Ottoman debt question. The communique declared that the instructions of the Italian government had been in Lausanne many days.

DISPUTE ADVICE OF MEDICAL MAN

Scientists Claim Inhalation of Pure Carbon and Calcium Injurious.

PITTSBURGH.—Scientists of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research of the University of Pittsburgh do not agree with Dr. William P. Nolan, of Jeannette, Pa., that inhalation of pure carbon and calcium in beneficial in the treatment of tuberculosis, as declared by Dr. Nolan in a paper before the Westmoreland Medical Society recently. In his paper Dr. Nolan referred to assistance given him by fellows of the Institute.

In a statement the university authorities sought to "correct the entirely erroneous idea that any medical faculty members have been responsible in part for the treatment announced by Dr. Nolan," and referring to the Institute's "smoke survey" of 1912, continued:

"The results of these researches indicated that tuberculosis was less likely to spread in a lung affected by the continued inhalation of smoke than in that of a normal individual, but that pneumonia was likely to be more dangerous in such a lung. The general belief at present is that coal dust does not make tuberculosis more likely, but that marble dust does make it more likely to develop.

"Most of the people living in Pittsburgh have fairly large deposits of carbon dust in their lungs, and Pittsburgh has a low death rate from tuberculosis and a high one from pneumonia.

"A number of inquiries made elsewhere have demonstrated that dust, and especially mineral dust, may irritate lungs, convey tuberculosis germs, and make pre-existing tuberculosis worse through irritation. Medical authorities are united stone (calcium carbonate) dusts tend to produce fibroid phthisis, if inhaled for long periods of time."

CHRISTMAS SEALS BRING BIG FUND

Twenty-Five Millions Given Tuberculosis Fund by Contributions.

(By the Associated Press)
SANTA BARBARA, Calif., June 22.—Fifty million contributions, totalling $25,000,000, have been made to the national, state and local tuberculosis associations of this country in the last 15 years through the annual Christmas seal sale. Last December approximately eight millions people contributed a total of $3,800,000 in the Christmas seal sale. These statements were made by Philip P. Jacobs, publicity director of the National Tuberculosis Association, before the meeting of that body here today.

Mr. Jacobs pointed out that while the average contributions of the community chests last year was $1.71, the average contribution in the Christmas seal sale is about 50c. This fact, he pointed out, indicates the democracy of the Chris-mas seal sale and also its educational value.

"Someone has said," Mr. Jacobs continued, "that the Christmas seal sale is a patent method of raising money. It is very evidently an annual institution. Millions of people every year look forward to this opportunity to contribute to the fight against tuberculosis and for better health.

"It has been demonstrated in such cities as Philadelphia, Baltimore, Detroit, Indianapolis and other cities that a vigorous Christmas seal sale conducted by the Tuberculosis association does not in any way impair the confidence of the public in the community chest, nor decrease the contributions to the community chest. On the contrary, there would seem to be some evidence to prove that the educational value of the Christmas seal sale helps the community chest."

ADA PIONEER CLEARED OF MURDER CHARGE

The following item from the Ar-dmoreite of Friday refers to an early day citizen of Ada and Oakman.
He was in the drug business in these places more than 20 years ago, according to some of the old timers. The Ardmoreite says:

"Dr. A. S. Yefflin of Wilson, who was being held in connection with the slaying of Eulis Coffey, was released from the county jail last night when Henry Keith made a confession in which he branded previous statements as false. John Keith, his cousin, who was present when Henry shot young Coffey, is also still held, and it is probable that charges will be filed against the two boys late today or Saturday.

"Henry stated that he knew of no ill feelings between the Coffey and Yefflin families and thought that he could aid in clearing himself if he implicated Dr. Yefflin. In his first confession he said that Dr.
Yefflin had offered him $200 to kill Walter Coffey, uncle of the dead boy, and later threatened him when he refused to do the crime."

BAT ROACH FUNERAL SATURDAY MORNING

The funeral services of Bat
Roach were held from the family residence, 301 West 12th street, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock,
conducted by Rev. F. G. Davis, pastor of the Christian church. The body was then laid to rest at Rosecald cemetery.

Deceased and family came to Ada
some 13 or 14 years ago and engaged in the grocery business. He was recognized as a man of good character and enjoyed the friendship of a large number of the best citizens of Pontotoc county. He is survived by his widow, three sons and six daughters.

Slain Osage Squaw Man Typified Carefree Life Of Frontier Desperado

(By the Associated Press)
PONCA CITY, Okla., June 21.— Harry Grammer, who was killed in a motor car accident near Shidler last week, was once champion steer roper of the world, and in him still lived the spirit of frontier days, with the reputation of one of the fastest pistol shots in the southwest.

In recounting events of Grammer's life, the Ponca City News stated he came to Oklahoma in 1901, already known from the Montana-Wyoming border to the Osage nation. He went to work on the Sylvester Soldani ranch in the Osage reservation as a cowpuncher.
er.

"Glamour surrounded Henry Grammer," according to the article which appeared in the News.
"He lived in an atmosphere of secrecy, frequently in the limelight, similar to that experienced by border-day characters. In type he was the genuine old-time cowboy, averaging the spur and lariat, and whatever the occasion or wherever he appeared, it was wearing cowboy boots and spurs, with the lasso roped around the saddle horn.
On the streets of Ponca City, Pawhuska, Arkansas City and other cities and towns of this portion of the west, he was a well-known, picturesque character."

Recounting Grammer's distinctions, the News said that one was quicker than other men and to his well-known ability to draw shoot from the hip with unerring aim. He was reported to have many notches on his pistol, and those who knew him were careful not to give him cause or opportunity to draw. It was said of him that he could allow the other man to draw first, and still fire the first shot.

Grammer was an Osage squaw man, who controlled an extensive acreage of cattle range.

Prominent in Rodeos
He took part in rodeos wherever they were held in the United States, Canada and Mexico, and traveling with the 101 Wild West show, he performed roping feats before many of the rulers of Europe in the years just before the world war.

Among many stories told of Grammer's life, the News related the following:

"On one occasion, when he had offended Uncle Sam in some manner and was serving a sentence on a federal charge in Oklahoma City,
his services were in demand at Fort Worth to act as judge in a rodeo being given under the auspices of the Texas Cattlemen's association, one of the prominent events of this nature in the southwest.

U. S. MILLS USE MORE COTTON; LESS EXPORTED

WASHINGTON, June 24.—According to a report by the census bureau, cotton consumed in the United States during the month of May totaled 620,965 bales as compared with 495,337 for May, 1922. For the 10 months of the fiscal year, the total number of bales consumed
by American mills was 5,660,- 969 against 4,942,600 for the corresponding period of 1922. About 4,000,000 more spindles were active than in May, 1922.

However, exports showed a marked decrease, being only 4,477,707, as compared with 5,451,800 for the 10 months of the respective fiscal years.

JUNE CLAIMS RECORD DEMAND FOR FORDS

DETROIT, Mich., June 23.—June finds the Ford Motor Company undertaking the greatest task of its career, that of attempting to fill an order list for cars and trucks which totals 311,000 for the month.

Popularity of the Ford never has been so strikingly illustrated as this year, for every month has brought increasing orders with June topping them all.

And the demand for the Ford extends into every section of the country, for dealers from the smallest town to the largest city all have asked for increased allotments of Ford cars and trucks for delivery to their customers.

Production has been steadily moved upward right along and the enormous manufacturing facilities of the company are daily being taxed to the utmost in an endeavor to meet the demand, and to assist in delivering cars with as little delay as possible.

During the present month production is on a schedule which calls for approximately 6,700 cars and trucks a day, another increase in the record-breaking output which sales demands make necessary.
